Questions to consider for everyone:

What nicknames do you have for your spouse? If you are single, do your parents have nicknames for each other? If so, what are they? If not, have you ever had a nickname before? What was it?

How does it feel to have a nickname with someone?

What's the best compliment you have ever received? Why did it mean so much to you?

How can you remember to complement your spouse every day?

Are you a better person because of the words of someone close to you? Tell your group the story.

Questions to consider if you are dating:

Does your relationship have any of the qualities of a bad relationship?

What would cause you to stop dating a person once you have started dating?

Are you a better person or a better Christian because of your dating relationship?

What do your strongest Christian friends think about the person you are dating?
